

PORTUGAL FACES A NEW CRISIS

HONOLULU SALUTES THE MIKADO'S WARSHIPS

TWO CRUISERS OF JAPAN HERE

Today the members of the Japanese community assembled on the waterfront in large numbers to witness the arrival of the two cruisers, Asama and Kasagi, which are making a week's stay here before proceeding on their long trip to South America, via the Pacific Coast. The two cruisers were sighted early this morning, and the Asama berthed at No. 3 berth, Naval dock, just before eight o'clock, the Kasagi arriving alongside the adjoining wharf about an hour later. Even at that early hour there was a great deal of stir on the waterfront. Out in the harbor there were dozens of Japanese house-boats, decked out with flags and streamers. At every hand was the rising sun of Japan, flaunting from the masts of the houseboats and from the cruisers, and hanging on lines stretched from stem to stern of the pleasure boats flitting about. Flock coated Japanese assembled on the naval dock, wearing billy-cock hats or black hard felts.

The morning was dull and warm, and the morning suits seemed incongruous, especially when contrasted with the natty white suits worn by the Japanese officers. The Asama was alongside for well over three-quarters of an hour before the gangway was hoisted up, and Consul General Uyeno paid his visit of welcome to Rear Admiral Yashiro. Following the Consul General was Chief Boatswain Shepley, representing Admiral Rees, who boarded the cruiser to tender her the courtesies of the port and any other facilities which might be required. Then the reception committee boarded the cruisers, presented their cards to the staff on the after deck and were taken below to meet the visiting Admiral and his officers. Drawn up on the wharf was a detachment of marines. The cruisers saluted the port with 21 guns as they came in and the naval authorities replied with a like number. Then thirteen guns were fired from cruisers and fort, the band on the Asama played a selection of American airs, and the cruisers berthed at the wharf.

Later in the forenoon Admiral Yashiro paid a formal visit to Admiral Rees, and afterwards the visiting Japanese officers attended a reception given at noon by Governor Frear in the Throne room of the capitol.

The cruisers have upwards of ninety cadets on board, and who are receiving naval training. They left Yokosuka, Japan, sixteen days ago, and had good weather across the Pacific. After a stay of six days the training squadron will leave for San Francisco where it is due on the 19th instant. From Frisco the cruisers will leave on the 23rd for San Pedro. Thence the itinerary is as follows: Arrive San Pedro November 25; leave San Pedro December 1, arrive Manzanillo, December 9; leave Manzanillo December 11, arrive Acapulco December 13; leave Acapulco December 17, arrive Sthina Cruz December 19; leave Salina Cruz December 24, arrive Panama December 30; leave Panama January 5, arrive Acapulco January 13; leave Acapulco January 17, arrive Honolulu February 2; leave Honolulu February 9, arrive Yokosuka February 28.

The admiral, accompanied by his suite and the Consul General, called on Governor Frear in the Throne room at half-past ten this morning. Governor Frear returned the call on board the flagship Asama this afternoon.

Early this afternoon the first big batch of men and officers were allowed shore leave, and very quickly they scattered to all parts of the city. Many of them carried small maps which were marked off with the principal sights, and the statue of Kamehameha in front of the Judiciary building must have received an excellent writeup, judging by the way the Japanese consulted the map and then looked at the statue in undisguised admiration. It certainly did look incongruous to see the officers walking about in top boots and white uniforms.

HONORS PAID TO THE LATE GOV. CLEGHORN

U. S. Judge A. G. M. Robertson, W. O. Smith and Colonel C. P. Lauke representing former Queen Liliuokalani, called on Governor Frear this morning when a conference was held regarding the funeral of the late A. S. Cleghorn. There was nothing definitely settled, and all that was done was of a tentative nature, and subject to revision. In all probability the funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon.

The services it is expected, will be held in the Anglican cathedral. It is probable that the funeral will not strictly speaking, be a state one, but it will be a public funeral, and it is likely that the military band will be present to head the cortege. It is anticipated that the Territorial officials will be present to participate. The order of the procession and the reservation of seats in the Cathedral will be arranged in due course. It has not yet been decided what form of service will be read when the body is committed to the vault.

A special session of the Supreme Court was held this morning on account of the death of Hon. A. S. Cleghorn. There were present, Chief Justice Hartwell, Justice de Bolt, Circuit Judges Cooper, Whitney and Robinson, as well as many members of the bar and officers of the courts. Chief Justice Hartwell made a short speech in which he mentioned that the Court had met for the purpose of adjourning as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Mr. Cleghorn, a man who was beloved by everyone in Hawaii. It was forty-two years since he had first met Mr. Cleghorn, and during all those years he had many opportunities of observing his kindly traits, his high sense of honor and his keen judgment. The Chief Justice said that he would join with the community in mourning the loss that had been sustained by the death of Mr. Cleghorn.

MANY APPLICANTS FOR PUBLIC LANDS ON OAHU

The sixth drawing for land took place this morning, and on this occasion the number of applications far outnumbered the lots thrown open. The land is on this island, and only twelve lots have been advertised. For this number there were thirty-two applications, one of which was irregular, so the number was reduced to thirty-one. The selection of lots will take place on December 19 at 9 a. m. in the capitol building. The following is a list of the applicants in the order in which they were drawn:

1 Dorris M. Lewis, 2 Arthur C. Aubrey, 3 Edward Johnson, 4 William S. Newlin, 5 Augusta G. Lansing, 6 Henry J. Pinchot, Jr., 7 Chas. T. Day, 8 S. L. Rapoza, 9 Mora F. Arnett, 10 W. Gillies, 11 Florence Kekao, 12 Don J. Jarvis, 13 John L. Pao, 14 Henry A. Wright, 15 Jno. K. Naki, 16 R. T. Christoffersen, 17 William Mann, 18 Samuel Makapo, 19 L. M. S. Keanui, 20 Chas. Wagner, 21 Mary Jensen, 22 Alice Tulett, 23 E. V. Rogers, 24 Mary H. Cooper, 25 Manuel C. Sylvester, 26 Fannie K. Painter, 27 Charles A. Cooper, 28 George E. Piltz, 29 Mrs. Theresa Kekai, 30 William Kaluna, and 31 Louise A. McGregor.

PROFOUND SECRECY ABOUT A PUBLIC JOB

Governor Frear today stated that there had been no developments in connection with the appointment of a collector of internal revenue, or the retention of W. F. Drake. It is impossible to find out whom the governor favors, and the candidates are all "up in the air," as usual. The secrecy that permeates the gubernatorial chambers invaded the Republican Central committee yesterday, according to reports, for it is rumored today that Judd, who opposed the endorsement of Drake, had some "inside information" which accounted for his action. It was not given to his associates to aid their judgment. It is expected that an appointment will soon be made, and in the mean time there are all sorts of reports of bad faith, and "double-crossing" and those officially responsible are so secretive that not even the candidates know where they stand. One report has it that the governor was asked by cable to make a recommendation and another report is that he has assurances that Drake cannot be reappointed. But when not even the candidates can penetrate the secrecy with which this appointment to a public office is being handled, the public are naturally in the dark.

NEW REPUBLIC IS THREATENED BY THE TROOPS

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

LISBON, November 2.—The new government faces a crisis owing to the attitude of the military forces which aided in the overthrow of the monarchy, and it is predicted that the new cabinet will have to yield to the demands of the military to prevent another revolution.

A revolt is threatened unless the government grants the demands of the troops for pensions and for many promotions which are claimed to have been promised.

It is expected that the government will yield to the demands of the troops. The latter are in a threatening attitude and able to enforce their demands.

KUHIO ANSWERS M'CANDLESS IN AN ADDRESS IN HILO

(Special to The Star.)

HILO, October 31.—Only a fair sized crowd was present in the Hilo armory last Saturday night when Delegate Kuhio made his final address of the campaign in this city. The strain which has been placed on his voice during the past few weeks was quite evident and for that reason he took a comparatively short time to make his address. The meeting was opened by Chairman Carl Smith, who attacked Candidate Harry Irwin, of the Democratic ticket, for denying the fact that he had stated that he was standing on the Democratic platform and still making no definite statement, saying that he was either a quitter or standing on the platform as a whole. Referring to Irwin's statement that he, Smith, had promised to support McCandless, the speaker stated that Irwin was mistaken, but knowing him to be honest he thought he was honestly mistaken, while McCandless in his statements was mistaken and not honest.

Candidate for Supervisor E. H. Austin made a short speech in which he denounced the attack made by Irwin on the Republican party as being controlled by rich men. He stated that neither rich men nor plantation managers owned any part of him and that the only two men who could dictate to him on this island were the tax collector and the local undertaker.

Afonso spoke in regard to attacks which had been made on him for introducing the present garnishee law and said that he would go on record that anyone against the law was a
